chiropractic, physical therapy & nutritional counseling

Website Posting

Please note that this is a free service facilitating the sale of new or used sports equipment by private individuals only. The seller must take all responsibility for sales including money transactions, communication with the interested party and dealing with all grievances. Active Lifestyles waives all responsibility with anyone posting, selling and buying any sports equipment listed on its website. Your first name and e-mail and/or phone number will be posted on the website along with a description and picture of the article for sale. All other info will be kept for our records only. Only completed forms will be considered and we reserve the right to deny any posting for any reason. Note that buyers (or sellers for that matter) have not been screened and all interested parties should take precautions in meeting with unknown parties. Items will be posted for 1 month, or less, if the posted item sells. It is the seller's responsibility to notify us when the items sell so we can remove it from the website.
